

NEWSWEEK

JUN 10 1955

COPYRIGHT

Schools and Scholars

Allen Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, delivered a warning about the cold war last week at Columbia University's commencement exercises. "Introducing mass education," he said, "the troubled Soviet leadership have created forces dangerous to themselves. The Soviet Union is not in a position to prevent them from exercising a political sense that they themselves... caused to be created in him when they gave him an education."